Portfolio User Test – Summary

I conducted a user test on my personal portfolio to get feedback on design, navigation, content, and overall user experience. Below is a summary of what the user liked and what they felt could be improved:

What the User Liked:

- Design was described as interactive, visually appealing, and innovative

- Color scheme and layout were clear and visually pleasant

- Animations were the user's favorite part and added to the overall experience

- Navigation through the site was mostly easy

- The site felt well-balanced in terms structure

- Text was easy to read

What the User disliked/ what needs improvement:

- Some pages were missing content

- The About Me page felt overcrowded

- Certain links on the Branding page didn't match the design style—suggested to embed them into the text like on other pages

- A resume was missing on the About page

 Changes Made Based on Feedback:

- Filled in missing pages with relevant information

- Rewrote and cleaned up the About Me text to make it more user-friendly

- Updated the links on the Branding page to match the rest of the site

- Added resume

This feedback helped refine the portfolio to make it clearer, more complete, and aligned with user expectations
